BEAMISH AWAITS DAVIS' VOUCHERS, CAMPAIGN COSTS

In Explanation of Expenditure of $1589 for His
Re-Election

ACCOUNT IS REJECTED

Under Title of 'Unpaid Debts'
Davis Listed $2500
Contribution

HARRISBURG, Dec. 6.—(INS)—Richard J. Beamish, Secretary of the Commonwealth, today awaited the receipt of vouchers to explain the expenditure of $1,589 by Senator James J. Davis in his campaign for re-election, before accepting his election expense account for filing.

Beamish rejected the Senator's expense account on this score yesterday afternoon and in a letter to Davis pointed out that Thursday is the last day for filing such accounts.

The Secretary's letter followed hard on the heels of an "open letter" to Republicans from Gov. Gifford Pinchot in which the executive prophesied that Davis will be refused a seat by the Senate. It was pointed out that some doubt might be cast on Davis' eligibility as a Senator if his expense account filings are not completed by Thursday, December 8.

Senator Davis listed expenditures aggregating $1589 mostly for postage, traveling, telegraph tolls and incidentals. Under the title of "unpaid debts" he listed $2500 as a contribution to the Republican State Committee, "requested but not yet paid."

In his letter, Beamish inquired whether that item was "an acknowledgment of a debt or merely a notation of a request?"

In a letter to A. Boyd Hamilton, secretary of the State Senate, who filed the Davis' account, the Senator's secretary, Frank K. Boal explained vouchers were not included because they are needed for another expense account which must be filed in Washington. State laws require vouchers for each expenditure over $10.

Says $75,000 Could Be Profitably Spent in River

In Washington yesterday Major General Lytle Brown, chief of the army engineers in submitting his budget stated that $75,000 could be profitably expended between Trenton and Philadelphia in dredging in the 28-foot channel during the spring of 1934, at a cost of $10,000, and dredging in the 20-foot channel late in the season of 1933, at a cost of $65,000.

In addition to this amount General Brown said funds have been reserved for future allotment for maintenance dredging in the 28 and 20-foot channels, when the need becomes more apparent. He explained that the amount required for maintenance in 1934 exceeds the average expenditure for maintenance during the past five years because of the increased dredging anticipated to maintain the two new channels.

Approximately 35 tons of boulders were removed between Delanco and Florence, N. J., at a cost of $2,060, during the past fiscal year, General Brown said. Sweeping and removal of boulders within the limits of contract dredging on Duck Island and Church Ranges was completed by Government plant and hired labor, approximately 1,165 cubic yards being removed at a cost of $4,749 for new work.

The cost of operating the automatic tide gauge at Trenton and four additional tide gauges established at Bordentown, Florence, Burlington, and Torresdale, was $2,007 for maintenance. The total cost of work during the fiscal year 1932 between Trenton and Philadelphia was $1,110,256, of which $1,094,173 was for new work and $16,082 for maintenance. Altogether the Federal Government has spent $1,587,692 on the existing project.

Visiting Charmer

Miss Benita Hume, well-known English actress, is shown as she waved a joyful greeting from the liner Leviathan as she arrived at New York to fill an American stage engagement. Miss Hume was voted the most charming girl on board by her fellow passengers, among whom was her fiancé, Jack Dunfee, racing motorist, who plans to do some racing in the United States.

TO ENACT LEGISLATION ON 14 AMENDMENTS

Final Action Will Rest With the 1933 General
Assembly

MUST BE APPROVED

This is the sixth and last of a series of articles on the 1933 Pennsylvania Assembly.—I. N. S.

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
(Staff Correspondent I. N. S.)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 6.—Final legislative action on 14 proposed amendments to the Pennsylvania Constitution rests with the 1933 general assembly.

As many of these as are approved will be placed on the ballot in 1933 together with five other amendments which have already been sanctioned by two Legislatures. Ratification by the Electorate will be asked.

These latter five amendments provide for: elimination of tax payment as a voting qualification; soldiers' pensions and gratuities to the blind; property assessments for highway improvements; prescribing the nature of investments for trust funds, and a loan of $50,000,000 to pay pensions to Spanish-American and World War veterans.

Four of the proposed amendments were passed for the first time in the last special session. Three, born of the necessity for emergency relief, empower the Governor to borrow money from the R. F. C. and provide for two $25,000,000 loans. One loan is intended to provide funds to tide the State Government over the 1933 biennium when a deficit is anticipated. The other gives the state a $25,000,000 fund to reimburse political subdivisions for relief expenditures.

The fourth amendment authorizes Philadelphia to levy special assessments against property owners benefited by improvement of transit facilities.

Little fear is manifest among political leaders that the two bond issue proposals will be opposed in 1933. Many of the solons are convinced that it would be political suicide to advocate new taxation now. Thus, the bond issue is a convenient means of effecting, on paper, at least, the deficit likely to occur.

Although few of the smaller political units have availed themselves of the State's willingness to repay in the future their relief expenditures, sentiment favors passing the amendment to protect those that have expended money under those terms.

Necessity of passing the Amendment authorizing the Governor to borrow from the R. F. C. is doubtful. The resolution was passed at a time when it was not clear just how the Federal Government contemplated providing relief.

As finally adopted, the R. F. C. act provides for advances to be repaid by the Commonwealth at a later date through deductions from funds normally allocated to the States for Federal-aid roads. Thus, in the strictest sense, the Federal funds are not loans, and the Governor may accept them without legal sanction from the Constitution, according to beliefs in some quarters.

Of the other ten amendments, all of which were passed at the 1931 session, one deals with Philadelphia's indebtedness, another concerns building of subways in Pittsburgh, and a third provides for the creation of a "Great"

CIVIL WAR VETERAN, 87, JAILED ON DESERTION AND NON-SUPPORT CHARGE PREFERRED BY HIS WIFE, 59, WHOM HE MARRIED AT ELKTON

Richard Gennett, 321 Taft Street, is Given Hearing Before Justice of Peace Edward Lynn — Denies Charges and Claims He Gave Money Monthly to His Wife —
Will Appear Before Judge Today at Doylestown

A Civil War veteran, 87, was brought into court here by his wife, 59, who charges that the veteran of Gettysburg and Bull Run, has deserted her and failed to provide support for her. She also intimated at a preliminary hearing that her husband came back here yesterday to "see another woman."

The veteran, Richard Gennett, and his wife, Carrie, launched their matrimonial venture at Elkton, February 10th. They then resided at 321 Taft street.

Everything went along in good shape following the return from Elkton to which place they had motored, being driven by the bride's son. Mrs. Gennett was a widow at the time of her marriage, Mrs. Carrie Scott.

At the trial last night Gennett told Justice of Peace Edward Lynn that he had been giving his wife $35 a month. He receives a pension of $100 from the Government for his war services. He was wounded twice at Gettysburg in 1863.

According to Mrs. Gennett her husband left here in August and she had a warrant issued for his arrest on August 24th. At that time Gennett's son died and he went to live with a son-in-law at Bridgeboro, N. J. He came back to Bristol yesterday to visit friends and according to his wife "came over here to meet another woman." This the veteran denies.

Gennett claims his wife never cared for him. "My first wife died last December, after we had been married 65 years. I had no home and did not want to go into the Soldiers' Home so I had Mrs. Carrie Scott keep house for me." Continuing Gennett says that he thought it better for him and Mrs. Scott to marry so they went to Elkton for the ceremony.

"She never sewed a button on my clothes, never made by bed and when I was sick she was in the next room and never cared for me."

Then as the wrinkled old veteran of many a battle paced back and forth across the floor of the Municipal Court, he said: "They say it takes 21 years to make a man and a woman can make a fool of him in five minutes."

Gennett was held in $500 bail for court but the police did not place him

SPONSORING COMMUNITY DECORATION CONTESTS

Homes, Decked in Yuletide
Trim, Will Vie for Honors
at Doylestown

A. L. POST SPONSOR

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 6.—Believing that Doylestown can easily become the best decorated town of its size in the State of Pennsylvania during the Christmas season, the A. R. Atkinson, Jr., Post of the American Legion, will sponsor a community home decoration contest in Doylestown, offering prizes worth close to $100.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the American Legion presided over by Post Commander Andrew Schott, it was decided to outline plans for the contest immediately. It will be confined to the homes of Doylestown and will not include the business places. A movement for a contest for better decorated stores and business places over the Christmas season has been suggested as a project for the Doylestown Business Men's Association.

Conducting a better-decorated-home contest is one of the numerous community projects planned by the Atkinson Post during the next twelve months, which are looked forward to as the most active in the history of the Atkinson Post.

There will be no solicitation of funds for the home-decorating contest. Post Commander Schott explained.

The Atkinson Post is in a position to sponsor this contest through the generosity of a friend of the American Legion, and the town is fortunate that we have been able to do this, particularly this year.

"Better lighted and better decorated homes certainly will mean more people coming to Doylestown during Christmas week, and merchants should follow up this opportunity to make a special effort this year for fine window and store decorations," said a friend of the Legion when informed of the contest.

"No time should be lost this year in preparing to get ready for the community Christmas tree," a business man remarked this morning. "More than ever before it will be fitting for Doylestown to have a community tree and a special Christmas eve service this year."

Details of the Legion contest to be conducted among the homes of Doylestown will be made public in detail in a short time.

JUSTICE MOVES QUICKLY

Wilkes-Barre, Dec. 6.—The wheels of justice were moving swiftly for Frank Stakinski and Anthony Tetiowski, alias Tetosky, held as youthful desperadoes who engaged in a bloody career of murder and robbery. In less than two hours they were indicted on a host of charges including that of murder. They were both indicted for the slaying of Peter Cutler, Wilkes-Barre hardware merchant, who refused to sell them guns and for the death of Mrs. Mary Malanoski, who was beaten to death while they were robbing her home. Police say they have confessed to both crimes. Judge Coughlin has recalled last week's criminal court jurors for service Friday when both youths are expected to be arraigned on the murder charges.

SPECIAL SESSION ASSURED

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—A special session of the new 73rd Congress after March 4th to deal with prohibition, appeared inevitable today as a result of the failure of the House to adopt Garner's repeal resolution. Democratic leaders generally predicted Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt will wish a special session called after his inauguration if the question unanswered. There is a possibility, though remote, that the House would act again on submission of repeal.

WANDERWELL SHOT

Long Beach, Calif., Dec. 6.—Captain Walter Wanderwell, famed world traveler, was mysteriously shot to death today aboard his yacht "Carmi," tied up at a dock here. Wanderwell, whose real name was said by U. S. Secret Service agents to be Treszynak, was seated with four guests at a table in the salon of the yacht. He was called from the table by a man, who said he wished to talk with him. Soon after, a shot was heard and Wanderwell was found shot to death. His assassin escaped.

ITALY WILL PAY

Rome, Italy, Dec. 6.—Italy will pay $1,245,427, war debt interest installment, due the United States on December 15th, the Grand Council of Fascism announced today.

3-ACT FARCE-COMEDY TO BE REPEATED HERE

St. Ann's Players to Again
Appear in "The Impersonator"

EXPECT A FULL HOUSE

Acceding to popular demand, another performance of the rollicking three-act farce comedy "The Impersonator," recently produced by the St. Ann's players under the able directorship of Messrs. Roche and Gallagher, will be given on the evening of December 11, at 8.15 o'clock in St. Ann's school auditorium, Pond and Logan streets.

This group of talented amateur players in their initial appearance made a decided hit. They showed acting ability of very high order and merited all the praise that was showered on them after the performance, it is stated.

The fact that each member of the cast is a resident of Bristol lends interest to the affair.

As the proceeds from the sale of tickets are to be devoted to a worthy and charitable cause, it is anticipated that the play will meet with an even greater success than that which greeted its first appearance.

J. M. Weller Renamed

President of Supervisors

At the annual meeting of Bensalem Township Board of Supervisors at the home of the president, Jacob M. Weller, Jr., Oakford, yesterday, the president was re-elected to head the board; and Richard W. Fechtenburg, was appointed secretary-treasurer.

Meeting with the three members of the board, Mr. Weller, Clarence Vansant, and Robert Murray, and their secretary-treasurer, were the three auditors. The auditors, Horace M. Freas, Richard M. Abbott, and John N. Curtis, audited the accounts, and reported that all was in order.

A budget was prepared for the ensuing year; rental charges and wages being set the same as last year.

The sessions were conducted from nine a. m. to five p. m., a luncheon being served the men at noon at the Weller home.

CLIMBS THROUGH WINDOW OF HIS "SWEETIE'S" HOME

Andrew Relak, Morrisville, Gets Jail Term For Forcible Entry

FOUND ANOTHER MAN

Fight Resulted and Then He Was Brought Before
Court

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 6.—A Trenton Romeo who climbed through the second floor window of his "sweetie's" home to find her in possession of another, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Calvin S. Boyer to serve a sentence of not less than four months or more than one year in the Bucks County Prison and fined $25 and costs.

Andrew Relak, 27-year-old unemployed mechanic, pleaded guilty that he used the forcible entry method to enter what he claimed was his sweetheart's home, when she failed to answer a knock at the door. Once inside he found another suitor and before he had left, he was so mad that he struck the girl in the face.

This method of courting took place in Morrisville when Relak called at the home of Miss Hazel Dietrick on the evening of November 4th. Relak told the Court that he had taken a couple of drinks and was probably "not himself at the time." He told Judge Boyer that he was extremely jealous of Miss Dietrick.

While in the Dietrick home, Relak picked up a pistol and threatened to "end it all" because he found the girl was being courted by another fellow.

"No matter how much you loved the girl you had no right to force your way into the house if no one answered the door," Judge Boyer informed Relak. "You need a little time to think this over," he said.

Harry Bennett, 30-year-old Oxford Valley plumber, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Boyer to a charge of aggravated assault and battery upon his wife on November 24th. He admitted blackening both her eyes with his fists after coming home drunk for Thanksgiving dinner.

"I am ashamed of myself, I was drunk," Bennett told Judge Boyer, who sentenced him to serve from one month to one year in the Bucks County Prison.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself after hearing the pitiable story your wife has told today," Judge Boyer said. "You, with children at home, have enough money to operate an automobile and drive to Trenton to get drunk, in spite of the fact that you are out of work. If it would help your family any I would send you to prison for two years."

Samuel Shive and Clarence Freas, of Sellersville, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of stealing seven chickens belonging to Julia Tarnow, of near Sellersville. Shive told President Judge Hiram H. Keller that his state welfare order was lowered from $3 to $2 a week for two of them, and that the reason he stole the chickens was "to get something more to eat."

Judge Keller informed Shive, who had been arrested some years ago for stealing chickens, that he blamed him for getting Freas into the trouble. Both men had gone to Miss Tarnow's place to get some wood that she had given them, and while there, stole the chickens.

Sentence upon Freas was suspended, but Shive was placed a probation for one year.

Pleading guilty to a charge of possessing two pints of whiskey when State Police raided the Hilltop Inn, Ottsville, on November 30, Frank J. Weiz, 30, was placed on probation for one year and prison sentence was suspended upon payment of $50 and costs in lieu of a fine. He was sentenced by Judge Boyer. A charge against Michael Weiz, for possessing liquor, will be nolae-prossed. The officers made the raid and Michael Weiz was arrested. The following morning, Frank, a son, informed District Attorney Eastburn that the liquor belonged to him. It was found in a burlap bag outside the door of the Hilltop Inn.

Otto Schwegal, 27, of Bristol Road, Bensalem township, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor in the basement of a building where he conducted a restaurant. The place was raided by County Detective Antonio Russo, who found a quantity of home-brewed beer.

Schwegal told Judge Keller that he "made the beer himself to be able to keep his place going." He was fined $100 and costs and placed on probation for one year.

John Castello, of Philadelphia, pleaded guilty before Judges Boyer and Keller yesterday and was fined.

BRAIDED SILK BELTS, ELASTIC, ADORN NEW CREATIONS OF PARIS

By ALICE LANGELEIER (Staff Correspondent I. N. S.) PARIS.—Belts are blooming on nearly every one of the best frocks to be seen in all the demi-season collections.

There are belts of colored silken elastic and belts of bullion braid of the ceremonial naval and military type which look very captivating on both day and evening wear.

Belts at one of the designer's are about one inch and one-quarter wide and are set at a moderately high line, dipping slightly in front and fastening behind.

At another house belts are of gold and silver braid, or of bright ribbon with steel and copper buckles.

A simulated swathed waist belt is of the new crinkly ribbon in dark green mingled with a faint suggestion of red. This generally falls off into a long end over the slim skirt line.

A pale beige dress is worn with a long Indian-red coat and belt. A black dress also sports a red belt at the waist-line and Augusta-Bernard swatches a dull crepe silk in golden yellow at the normal waist and lets the belt hang in a long sash at the right side.

Maggy Rouff uses one of the old-fashioned draped girdle effects on a stunning lacquered afternoon frock of crepe Marlene and a gold kid belt is worn high on a white matelasse gown with curious fluted frills about the armholes.

Warning! A cheap, underpowered or poorly constructed refrigerator is expensive at any price. You are cautioned against accepting such a refrigerator under the impression that you are getting a genuine Frigidaire with its extra power, extra food space, and extra value. Frigidaire has not lowered its standards to make the new price possible. It is passing on to the public the economies that have been made possible in the last few months. Be sure you get a genuine Frigidaire. Unless the refrigerator you buy bears the Frigidaire nameplate, it is not a genuine Frigidaire.

Frigidaire also makes commercial equipment for Stores, Apartments, Restaurants, Hotels and Institutions... Water Coolers... Ice Cream Cabinets... Milk Cooling Equipment... Air Conditioners
